509.	Robert de Sorbon	France, Switzerland, Florida and the Comoro Islands	Uses several similar names including "U Francophone" and "Ecole Superior" with the Sorbon name. Degrees issued by this entity are invalid because the entity has no legal authority from any recognized government to issue degrees. Its claim of authority from France is inaccurate and its claim of authority from the Comoro Islands is meaningless. Run from Florida by Jean Prade. AACRAO has concluded that the entity has no authority to issue degrees. Claims of AACRAO approval made by an organization called AUAP are inaccurate and AACRAO has filed suit against the entity. Swedish government rejects its degrees. Not the same as 'Sorbonne', which refers to three government-recognized universities in Paris.
510.	Robert Kennedy University	Switzerland	This supplier no longer issues degrees under its own name. It is approved by a Swiss canton, but its degrees are not recognized for use at other Swiss universities. Maine requires that foreign degrees be usable within the nation of authorization on the same terms as other college degrees in order to meet the statutory standard of having the "foreign equivalent" of U.S. accreditation. Approval by a Swiss canton therefore does not meet the State standard for foreign approval. Employers should consider degrees from this supplier to be equivalent to an unaccredited U.S. college degree unless each degree program is evaluated in detail by an external evaluator acceptable to Maine DOE.
